The Emerald Coast Utilities Authority Enhances Web Site With New Technology

ECUA Introduces “Web-Features” To Better Inform and Educate Residents

PENSACOLA—On Monday, July 13, 2009, the Emerald Coast Utilities Authority (ECUA) launched a series of instructional video features, which can be found on the www.ecua.org web site. These unique, short and to-the-point, instructional features will serve as visual support to the information outlined on the ECUA user-friendly web site. The first video will address preferred trash bagging techniques in an effort to prevent wind-blown garbage and recyclables from littering the streets of Escambia County. Topics soon to follow will include proper water purification methods when precautionary boil water notices are in effect, general guidelines for the ECUA Residential Recycling Program, and the Fats, Oils and Grease Program.

About ECUA: Originally founded as the Escambia County Utilities Authority in 1981. The ECUA is a local governmental body, existing under the laws of the State of Florida and provides sanitation, water, and wastewater services. The ECUA’s name was officially changed to the Emerald Coast Utilities Authority on June 29, 2004.
